

Name _____

Date: _____

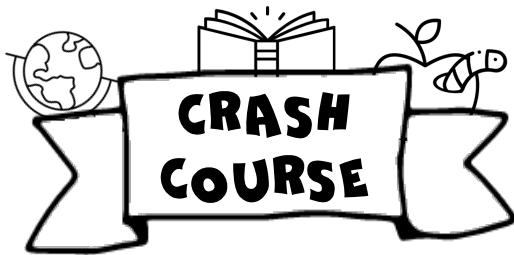

Teacher: _____

US HISTORY #46-TERRORISM, WAR, AND BUSH 43

Directions: While watching the video, fill in the blanks.

tax	terror	terrorism	civil	Katrina
foreign	patriot	electoral	Taliban	recount

- ☐ 1. Al Gore did not have the necessary _____ votes to become president.
- ☐ 2. They ruled that the _____ should be stopped, interfering with a state law and also a state's electoral process, which is a weird decision for strict constructionists to make.
- ☐ 3. George W Bush pushed through the largest _____ cut in American history in 2001.
- ☐ 4. The events of September 11, 2001 ensured that _____ policy would dominate any discussion of the opening decade of the 21st century.
- ☐ 5. The question of how to keep America safe while also preserving our _____ liberties is one of the central questions of the 21st century.
- ☐ 6. On October 7th the United States launched its first strikes against Afghanistan, which at the time was ruled by a group of Islamic fundamentalists called the _____ who were protecting Osama bin Laden.
- ☐ 7. Bush had expanded the scope of the global war on _____ by proclaiming that Iran, Iraq and North Korea were an "axis of evil" that harbored terrorists.
- ☐ 8. The _____ Act gave the government unprecedented law enforcement powers to combat domestic terrorism, including the ability to wiretap and spy on Americans.
- ☐ 9. Then in August 2005 Hurricane _____ slammed into the Gulf Coast near New Orleans, submerging much of the city, killing nearly 1,500 people, and leaving thousands stranded without basic services.
- ☐ 10. Under the leadership of George W. Bush, the United States began a global fight against _____ and for freedom.

Name _____

Date: _____

Teacher: _____

US HISTORY #46-TERRORISM, WAR, AND BUSH 43

Directions: Write one thing you think you know about the topic.

1. _____

Directions: While watching the video, fill in the blanks.

- ☐ 1. Al Gore did not have the necessary _____ votes to become president.
- ☐ 2. They ruled that the _____ should be stopped, interfering with a state law and also a state's electoral process, which is a weird decision for strict constructionists to make.
- ☐ 3. George W Bush pushed through the largest _____ cut in American history in 2001.
- ☐ 4. The events of September 11, 2001 ensured that _____ policy would dominate any discussion of the opening decade of the 21st century.
- ☐ 5. The question of how to keep America safe while also preserving our _____ liberties is one of the central questions of the 21st century.
- ☐ 6. On October 7th the United States launched its first strikes against Afghanistan, which at the time was ruled by a group of Islamic fundamentalists called the _____ who were protecting Osama bin Laden.
- ☐ 7. Bush had expanded the scope of the global war on _____ by proclaiming that Iran, Iraq and North Korea were an "axis of evil" that harbored terrorists.
- ☐ 8. The _____ Act gave the government unprecedented law enforcement powers to combat domestic terrorism, including the ability to wiretap and spy on Americans.
- ☐ 9. Then in August 2005 Hurricane _____ slammed into the Gulf Coast near New Orleans, submerging much of the city, killing nearly 1,500 people, and leaving thousands stranded without basic services.
- ☐ 10. Under the leadership of George W. Bush, the United States began a global fight against _____ and for freedom.

Name _____

Date _____

Teacher: _____

Answer Key

US HISTORY #46-TERRORISM, WAR, AND BUSH 43

Directions: While watching the video, fill in the blanks.

tax	terror	terrorism	civil	Katrina
foreign	patriot	electoral	Taliban	recount

- ☐ 1. Al Gore did not have the necessary electoral votes to become president.
- ☐ 2. They ruled that the recount should be stopped, interfering with a state law and also a state's electoral process, which is a weird decision for strict constructionists to make.
- ☐ 3. George W Bush pushed through the largest tax cut in American history in 2001.
- ☐ 4. The events of September 11, 2001 ensured that foreign policy would dominate any discussion of the opening decade of the 21st century.
- ☐ 5. The question of how to keep America safe while also preserving our civil liberties is one of the central questions of the 21st century.
- ☐ 6. On October 7th the United States launched its first strikes against Afghanistan, which at the time was ruled by a group of Islamic fundamentalists called the Taliban who were protecting Osama bin Laden.
- ☐ 7. Bush had expanded the scope of the global war on terror by proclaiming that Iran, Iraq and North Korea were an "axis of evil" that harbored terrorists.
- ☐ 8. The Patriot Act gave the government unprecedented law enforcement powers to combat domestic terrorism, including the ability to wiretap and spy on Americans.
- ☐ 9. Then in August 2005 Hurricane Katrina slammed into the Gulf Coast near New Orleans, submerging much of the city, killing nearly 1,500 people, and leaving thousands stranded without basic services.
- ☐ 10. Under the leadership of George W. Bush, the United States began a global fight against terrorism and for freedom.